Sustainable Finance: Brazil becomes the 22nd member of the International Platform on Sustainable Finance

Brazil, represented by its Ministry of Finance, has officially joined the International Platform on Sustainable Finance (IPSF), becoming its 22nd member. The IPSF Secretariat welcomes Brazil and looks forward to closely cooperating with its Ministry of Finance.

The IPSF was created in October 2019 as part of international efforts to meet the Paris Agreement commitments. In addition to Brazil, the IPSF's members are the European Union as well as the relevant public authorities in charge of developing sustainable finance policies in Argentina, Australia, Benin, Canada, Chile, China, Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China, India, Japan, Indonesia, Kenya, Malaysia, Morocco, New Zealand, Norway, Senegal, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom. Together, the IPSF's members represent 60% of global greenhouse gas emissions, 57% of global GDP, and 54% of the world's population.

The IPSF is a multilateral forum of policymakers that focuses on the international interoperability and comparability of sustainable finance frameworks and initiatives, including taxonomies, disclosures, standards and labels. Such tools are fundamental for investors to identify and seize investment opportunities worldwide that truly contribute to sustainability objectives and support efforts towards a green and just transition.

The IPSF remains open to jurisdictions which are committed to the effective implementation of the Paris Agreement, the Sustainable Development Goals and the Kunming-Montreal Global Biodiversity Framework and which are willing to promote international cooperation in sustainable finance.
